

Role Descriptions: Cognitive Assessment

Instructions for the Healthcare Professional/Assessor:

You are the assessor and your role is to administer two pages of the Adenbrook's Cognitive Examination III.

Take a few minutes to familiarise yourself with the assessment.

You may disregard the 'Which' part of the first 'Attention' section that asks the whereabouts of the setting.

You do not need to score the person's performance, but do try to administer the assessment as closely as possible, and use a stopwatch where timing is needed.

Instructions for the person with suspected dementia:

You have arrived to a clinic as you have noticed changes to your memory and thinking abilities.

You are met with a healthcare professional who will conduct an assessment with you to find out what might have changed.

You also experience changes to your vision and hearing due to ageing.

Try to complete the assessment to the best of your ability